Dear Ms. Marijana Marković

On behalf of the organizing committee, we would like to invite you to the International Session in the 23rd Symposium on Environmental Chemistry in Kyoto, Japan on May 14-16, 2014. (<http://www.j-ec.or.jp/>)

International Session in the Symposium on Environmental Chemistry has been recognized as the fruitful symposium in the field of Environmental Chemistry. The 23rd Symposium on Environmental Chemistry will continue interdisciplinary forum for communicating latest data. It will be an excellent step to share and exchange information and lead to a fruitful discussion. We will arrange many opportunities to interact between students, academics and science experts. We would cover a fraction of the cost as financial support (up to 120,000 JPY) for the travel because we are pleased to invite you as an invited speaker.

We sincerely hope that you will join us to contribute your valuable ideas and experience to the session.

We look forward to your participation in the 23rd Symposium on Environmental Chemistry.

Best regards,

Takeshi Nakano, Ph.D
Research Professor,
